Il Tempo

Welcome to Il Tempo (The Times), the Newsletter of the Barony of Ponte Alto, one of the northern baronies in the Kingdom of Atlantia.

Il Tempo strives to be an informative read that you look forward to. To this end, we are always appreciative of any contributions to it, perhaps an article of a project you are working on or are interested in, how to make/play a period game, your experience at an event, how/what to prepare for a day trip, a recipe/ piece of garb that you've made, documentation on an item you've competed - a how to on documentation, a few words on a historical person/event, photos, a book review, something to share with a newcomer - perhaps a short autobiography of your persona or how you came to figure out your persona.

The list can go on for ages - only limited by the speed at which our hands can write out what our minds can think of.

Come, share with us adventures in the great Barony of Ponte Alto, in the grand Kingdom of Atlantia, in this - the current Middle Ages!

ARTS & SCIENCES IN THE SPOTLIGHT

How Long Did That Take?

Introducing the “How Long Did That Take?” Experiment

Instigator/Sponsor: Lady Amie Sparrow

Anybody who does any kinds of arts or craft is inevitably asked the question, “So how long did that take you?” Some of us have a rough idea of the hours involved. Some do not.

The answer to the question would be very helpful for people starting out in a new craft or experienced people who want to create something they’ve already made but can’t remember the time it took. I would love to have some kind of chart that gives the hours generally required for certain projects. How long does it take for an experienced person to create a scroll? How long does it take a mid-level person? How long for a beginner? What about a leather quiver? A woven belt? A metal helmet?

To find those answers, I’m going to run an A&S experiment that takes a year, the purpose of which will enable you to answer the question, “So how long did that take you?” I want to include all skill levels in this endeavor.

The end result would be a display of projects with associated hours. At this time, the goal for the display is Pennsic 2018.

What’s the point of the experiment? For me, personally, it would be a great metric to prevent me from embarking on a project that I don’t have time to complete. (Didn’t I make that peasant dress in a weekend? Um, no. According to your OWN NOTES it took you all your free time for two weeks!) For new folks, it will give them a thumbnail estimate of how long their projects might take so they can set their expectations accordingly and not be discouraged.

What I would want from participants is 1) a photo of their finished project and 2) the information below.

Project Name:

Your experience level in this area (Novice, Mid-level, Expert):

Hours to complete:

Materials used:

Historical Period/Culture:

Total cost:

Did you learn anything new from this project?

What recommendations would you make to others attempting this project?

This experiment is not a contest about “I suffer more for my art than you do.” Instead, it is a journey across the arts & sciences that will produce helpful metrics. At the end, everyone who participates will get a token for participating in the project with me.

Please contact me if you’re interested!

We really could use your help

There are several positions in our Barony that could use a Deputy; actually, all of the positions that we have could benefit by having at least one deputy.

Why a Deputy? Well, it is easy for any one of us to intend to do something if we don't take into account that the SCA is what we do with our time after we are finished doing what we do to pay the bills.

With deputies, the work load can be shared, allowing more work to be accomplished with less time and stress for any one individual.

Besides, it is a great way to work with others to do something different to help make your, and other's, SCA experience that much better!

12 January 2012

As much as I enjoy a cold beer – or a cold cider, or even mead! – on a hot summer day, sometimes it's refreshing to have something non-alcoholic. Especially useful for those darn dry sites!

Our resident Mongol (and Baronial food/poison-taster), Lord Naran, offered up this recipe for Sekanjabin to share with his fellow Pontoons.

Try this at Pennsic! It's very tasty!

-editor

SEKANJABIN RECIPE

STRAWBERRY AND MINT

Note: “The recipe I found said chop the strawberries, and remove when finished with a fine sieve, but I decided to puree them and leave them in.”

Recipe:

Ingredients: Water, white sugar, balsamic vinegar, 12 ounces strawberries, fresh mint.

Boil 2 cups water.

Add 4 cups white sugar, and dissolve over high heat.

Then add 1 cup balsamic vinegar and stir.

Add 12 ounces of strawberries, pureed, and a cup of chopped fresh mint.

Simmer for 30 minutes.

Turn off the heat, let sit/cool overnight, then strain out the mint.

Bottle (clean 2 liter soda bottle is fine).

When wanting to serve, add 4-6 part cold water, ice if desired.

Note: “The original recipe indicated to add the fruit first, and the vinegar last, but if you don't simmer the vinegar, much of the acid taste remains. Simmering removes much of the acetic acid.”

Enjoy!
